Last week we created an observational drawing of a plant or a flower.

This week we will focus on drawing just part of a flower or plant.

Georgia O'Keeffe was known for looking carefully at parts of flowers and just drawing certain parts of the flower. By doing this she was able to create very detailed paintings.

Today you will need paper, pencil (sketchbooks in school) and a plant, or a flower.

Today you will be choosing part of a flower or plant to draw.

You can choose from the following:

- Petal
- Leaf

If you have time you could draw both.

Whilst drawing you can perhaps play some music, make sure you take your time, look for the details and if you make a mistake don't worry, that is how we learn. Do not rub out your mistake, draw around or over it.
