I will know how to understand character comparison

Character comparison: in order to write a successful character comparison, you must look at more than just the descriptions (appearances) of the characters. You need to analyse how they relate to each other (how they get along). You need to examine both characters' roles in the story to understand how they add to the overall meaning of the text.

In writing, authors usually have at least two characters that are very different to each other. One is usually 'good' and one is usually 'bad'. Authors do this to create drama and excitement between the two characters.

This week, we are going to read the next part of our story and see who we might think is our 'good' character and who is our 'bad' character.

"Stop!" warned Tyler before Kerry stepped on a bone. They were currently creeping through the old, haunted graveyard on the end of town. "Don't speak to me like that!" snarled Kerry. "Why am I here? This is gross." she moaned. "You know why," whispered Tyler. "We need to find proof of the creature for our assignment." he reminder her yet again.

"I don't see why you couldn't have come without me," Kerry complained. "These are new shoes and now they're dirty!"

"Ssh! Did you hear that?" Tyler asked ignoring Kerry's grumbling.

Plenary:

Character comparisons - tick or fix:

- Based on our opinions on the character's appearance, actions, thoughts and words
- Stories usually include a 'bad' and an 'even worse character'
- 'Bad' characters always stay bad and 'good' characters always stay good
