I will know how to infer ideas using evidence from the text.

Do now:

How many dogs did Shackleton take?

How many did he leave behind?

In 1914, a cargo of 99 dogs was sent from Canada to London. Of these, 69 were chosen for the expedition. Shackleton and the crew gave them all names, and you may notice that some are named after famous people and crew members.

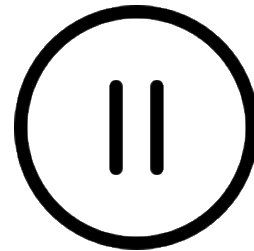

Be prepared to feedback to class.

I will know how to infer ideas using evidence from the text.

1. Note down any reasons as to why you believe that those 69 dogs were chosen for the expedition.

Why might some dogs have been left behind?

evidence from the text.

Main Task

Answer the following questions within today's assignment.

1. What is a 'good temperament' and why would this have been important?
2. Why would a thick coat have been a good quality?
